Citadel of Light

Strategies for Energy Clearing and

Fortification with Jim Nymeyer

Saturday, Sept. 23, 1:00 - 4:00 pm

$75

In this workshop, we take a deep dive into the essential principles of personal and spatial energy clearing and fortification. We will explore practical and time-tested techniques for cleansing, reinforcing, and balancing the energies of ourselves and our living spaces. Learn about various techniques, meditations, and plant and mineral allies that can assist in clearing and strengthening our energy body and environment. In addition, we will examine how various cultural and spiritual traditions deal with negative and invasive energies in both people and places.

If you have ever struggled to cleanse unwanted energies from yourself or your living space or found it hard to maintain a positive vibration after a space clearing, bring a notebook and an open mind to this deeply informative workshop and arm yourself with some best practices for personal energy hygiene.

Jim Nymeyer is an herbalist, wellness educator, and meditation teacher that has over two decades of experience leading workshops on various physical, energetic, and spiritual healing systems. With a diverse background spanning various shamanic and mystery traditions, Jim draws from his experience with professional space clearing, energetic and vibration healing techniques, meditation, plant medicine, and ancient divination practices. He studied traditional Chinese herbal sciences at the East West School of Herbology and holds an advanced certification in Himalayan Sound and Vibrational Healing Therapy.

Space is limited to 12 attendees. RSVP online at www.barjonsbooks.com, or in person at Barjon's Books.

Mabon: Fall Equinox

From Llewellyn's Sabbats Almanac

Mabon, or the fall equinox, marks the second of the three Harvest festivals. Fruit, squash, and more are collected and celebrated, particularly grapes which are made into wine. This sabbat is sometimes referred to as the Pagan Thanksgiving.

Mabon is a time to consider what you have gained throughout the year and what you need to let go of.

Traditionally, Mabon activities center on gratitude, sharing, and showing appreciation. Sometimes a sacrifice can be made in the form of charitable acts or donating to good causes as an expression of gratitude.

On Mabon, day and night are of equal length. This parallel state of light and dark is an example of perfect balance lasting only 24 hours. It is said that on this day all oppositional forces hang in perfect balance for a moment; the god and goddess have equal power, good and evil have equal influence, and life and death are simultaneously acknowledged.

After this the days will shorten bit by bit as the season of Darkness takes over. In this way, Mabon is an occasion for transformation and change, acting as a gateway between two states of being as your spirit symbolically moves from light to dark or day to night.

While Mabon is seen as a time of perfect balance, it also heralds change. Darkness may seem like a place of nothingness, but it's simultaneously a place where anything and everything could happen. Unlimited potential is just waiting for you to find it.

A Mabon Tarot Spread

From Llewellyn's Sabbats Essential on Mabon

This is a way to look at the energy you have put down and where it will lead - and what you will have to work with when your path has led in its own direction.

This spread requires 24 cards total. You will spread and lay down cards in three groups of eight.

On the first shuffle lay down four cards. This represents what you have sown in the past. Then lay down an additional four cards directly beneath them. This is what you will reap because of the action referred to in the cards above it.

Shuffle the cards and repeat the process two more times so you have three sets of cards to interpret.

The first eight cards represent your more distant past, things sown and reaped long ago. The second eight refer to your immediate past and present, and the last eight refer to your distant future.

You can check photos and notes of your tarot reading from one harvest to the next. Make notes when you change course or seek additional wisdom - see how it affects your life over time.

Mabon Incense

By Sea Witch Botanicals

Mabon™ Seasonal All-Natural Incense captures the crisp, dewy mornings and sidelong golden sunlight of autumn with real vanilla, bright bergamot, and cozy coffee, spiced with classic nutmeg and clove, and kissed with a cedarwood fog.

Evoke the winds of change, the return of distant chimney smoke, and the flutter of dry, tumbling leaves with a celebratory solstice blend inspired by all the delicious things you'd want to sip from a steamy mug on a chilly day!

Associations:

- Element - Earth
- Zodiac - Virgo, Libra, Taurus, Capricorn
- Tarot Card - The World
- Rune - Jera

Ivy represents balance and celebrating the second harvest
