Loving Bravely, by Alexandra Solomon, PhD.

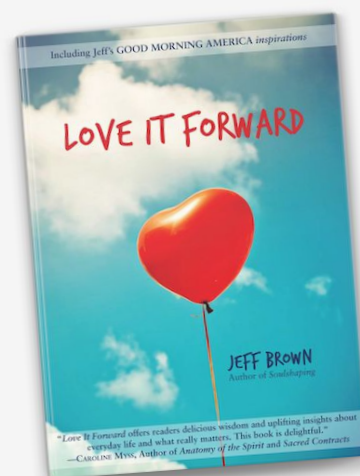

Real love starts with you. In order to attract a life partner and build a healthy intimate relationship, you must first become a good partner to yourself. This book offers twenty invaluable lessons that will help you explore and commit to your own emotional and psychological well-being so you can be ready, resilient, and confident in love.

In Loving Bravely, psychologist, professor and relationship expert Alexandra H. Solomon introduces the idea of relational self-awareness, encouraging you to explore your personal history to gain an understanding of your own relational patterns, as well as your strengths and weaknesses in relationships. By doing so, you'll learn what relationships actually require, beyond the fairytale notions of romance. And by maintaining a steady but gentle focus on yourself, you'll build the best possible foundation for making a loving connection.

Love it Forward, by Jeff Brown

In this magical collection of quotes, aphorisms and blogs, author Jeff Brown shares more of his well-loved 'spiritual graffiti' with us. Building on the success of his first collection—'Ascending with Both Feet on the Ground'—Brown has put together another wondrous book, this time including many of his most profound love and relationship quotes with the reader. With a writing style that is unforgettably unique, he reminds us of the magnificent life that awaits us. With grounded wisdoms that enhearten and elevate, he reminds us that we are never alone in this beautifully relational human dance. And, as an added bonus, he has included some of his most inspiring blogs in the collection, including 'You are Sacred Purpose', 'Apologies to my (sweet) body', and inspirations he wrote for ABC's 'Good Morning America.' This is a fantastic gift book and companion for anyone seeking support on their quest for a more authentic and meaningful life.

"You are here, now, because you have been loved forward. If not by fellow humans, then surely by Grace itself. That we are here means we are wanted here. It means we belong here. It is our life's work to uncover why. We are not random concentrations of stardust, nor are we accidental tourists. We are divinely inspired, purposeful, and essential to this wondrous human tapestry."

— Jeff Brown, Love It Forward

Love Who You Are Oracle Deck

Remember who you were before the world told you who you should be. No matter how accomplished we are with compassion and self-care, none of us is immune to doubt, anxiety, fear of criticism or betrayal. It's natural, in a world that favors the good, compliant, be-everything-to-everyone person, to wander from the path of self-love.

This deck is your companion on the journey to radiant self-worth and confidence. Let the 44 cards and the musings of the 116-page book be the voice that calls you back.

This collection has been carefully curated to be a light in the window along your path.

The Power of 2023

by Danielle Egnew, Intuitive Readings on Tuesdays

One of the most exciting things for me, as someone who regularly communicates with Quantum Beings who see all space-time as One Time (we like to call these Quantum Beings “angels”), is the peering into future events.

Considering that angels feel no need to acknowledge linear time, my job is then a bit like untangling those tiny, fine chains that get dumped into a jewelry box in 1986, and then churned for 30 years while other jewelry is sought after--until the chains themselves are knotted into a concrete ball.

Thankfully, I’m assisted with untangling this wad of space-time by Angelic Beings who don’t even notice there is a knot. And in one of the untangling sessions, I had the opportunity to “glance forward” and survey 2023’s most potent contribution to our development as a human species:

The re-definition of Hope.

Now that may sound trite. Even a little saccharine. However, it’s rather exciting. Because the Old World’s definition of traditional “hope” really needs a dust-off, in how society has evolved today.

This Feminine Timeframe, which kicked into gear around 2012, lasts 100,000 years. Like a pendulum, the Yang energies and the Yin energies swing back and forth, taking approximately 100,000 years to complete one “swoop” of the energetic lob. Anyone born in the 20th century would have no recollection of the former Feminine Timeframe. Thus, this re-entry into the timeframe of the feminine seems “new” to all of us, lending to the term “The New Realm” that we are headed into.

Or, as these angels like to put it, “The Original Realm”, as in, what was originally here in the building block format energetically, before we paved paradise and put up a parking lot.

No matter what you call it, the Feminine Timeframe is here to redefine, or reframe, many things.

Right now, in 2023, one of the biggest re-imaginings is Hope.

During the end of the Masculine Timeframe, with particular attention to the last 1,500 years, we’d tripped into the “Imbalanced Patriarchal” section of our learning experience. It’s a much more dogmatic energy.

In this energy, many definitions for words, thoughts, actions, and social modalities took on this black-and-white flavor. One of those casualties was the word “Hope”.

The definition and idea of Hope was first swallowed up by organized religion. Hope became this thin, odd piece of tape that held Faith onto the box known as Belief. Somehow, Hope itself became reduced and watered down to a gateway drug of sorts, whose only purpose was to prime someone for vast disillusionment when the “faith” didn’t produce the answers to prayers that “belief” was supposed to champion.

During the Imbalanced Patriarchal Timeframe, Hope got a bad name. “Don’t give me false hope,” people would proclaim, clutching their pearls and waiting for the other shoe to drop.

Hope became a hammer of disappointment. Hope became just another unobtainable myth, like the Fountain of Youth.

In fact, the concept of “false hope” is so erroneous, it’s a bit comical. It’s like saying “dry water”. The very nature and energy of Hope can never be false because it truly encapsulates all that is possible.

Yet towards the end of the Imbalanced Patriarchal Timeframe—a word that encapsulated “anything being possible” really put a wrinkle in the gaslighting flair of the 20th century.

Yet towards the end of the Imbalanced Patriarchal Timeframe—a word that encapsulated “anything being possible” really put a wrinkle in the gaslighting flair of the 20th century.

However, in the Timeframe of the Feminine, where the feminine energies literally can achieve absolutely anything, from growing complex life forms from single-celled raw ingredients, to spending a whole workday in 6-inch heels—Hope is allowed to flourish under its original design and definition.

In 2023, we will re-acquaint ourselves with the true nature of Hope. It’s not an adjective. It’s a verb. We don’t feel hopeful. We HOPE, therefore we feel expectant. Hope will be the quiet, smiling energy, rolling beneath the feet of every human on this planet.

We will feel it. We will be it. We will breathe in the Hope through the warm smiles of others. We won’t be able to define this warm, fluffy, safe feeling at first. It’s been a long time since we trusted one another. Yet as Hope does, it will simply appear in our kindness, our compassion.

Hope, in terms of spiritual physics, or even in terms of how the angelic realm views the word, means “unlimited opportunity for unlimited potential and unlimited outcomes.” Hope isn’t a “maybe”. It’s the mechanics of a slam-dunk.

So this year, in 2023, let us enjoy the redefining of Hope. Let it roll through your heart, and ease your mind, to know (not “hope”, but know), that our greatest ability to heal, to help, to uplift, is now not simply a wistful concept of the mind, yet dough in our hands, here to fortify the spiritual and physical body.

What we bake with it? Well. That’s up to us.

I vote we start with donuts.
